

Christine Fletcher is the author of two critically acclaimed young adult novels. Her first, Tallulah Falls, was named a Book for the Teen Age by the New York Public Library and optioned for film. Her second, Ten Cents a Dance, was named a YALSA Top Ten Best Book for Young Adults, awarded a BCCB Blue Ribbon, and has been chosen for several state reading lists, among other honors. Christine is currently working on her third YA novel while still working part-time as a veterinarian. She lives in Oregon with her boyfriend and an assortment of rescued animals.